the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1 million (Office of National Statistics 1999).

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop strategies to meet the needs of the ageing population. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for ageing, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the health and social care of older people. The strategy is based on the following principles:

- Older people should be able to live independently and actively in their own homes for as long as possible.
- Older people should be able to access the services and support they need to live well.
- Older people should be able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.
- Older people should be able to live in a safe and secure environment.

The strategy also sets out a number of key objectives, including: to reduce the number of older people who are in care homes; to improve the quality of care in care homes; to increase the number of older people who are employed; and to increase the number of older people who are active in their communities.

The strategy is a key document for the development of policies and services for older people. It provides a framework for the development of a range of services, including: housing, health care, social care, and employment.

The strategy also sets out a number of key priorities, including: to improve the health and social care of older people; to increase the number of older people who are employed; and to increase the number of older people who are active in their communities.

FOREWORD

The year 1947 has been an outstanding and successful year in Lowell High School football history. Our twenty-fifth season of football was celebrated by a near undefeated season and especially high-lighted by the homecoming game.

Therefore, as a special mark of esteem to this victorious 1947 team and to those teams who have so nobly figured in L.H.S. sports history, we the class of '47 have chosen as the theme of our annual--Football.

DEDICATION

To the victorious LHS football team of 1946 and to their capable and dynamic coach, Mr. Milakovic (Mike), we, the class of '47, thankfully dedicate this annual.

Seniors

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

Beginning the year with a whoop and a holler, the 76 seniors were very happy that this was their last year, and sure that it would be an eventful one. And eventful it was! Officers were elected at the very first of the year. President Dean Henry led the senior class, while Jean Leep stood by to take over in case of Dean's disability. Barbara Bailey took the role of secretary-treasurer.

Early in the fall there was a hay-ride to start things off. The ride was a big success, and at the home of Marilyn Freese.

This was hardly over, when Mr. Blankenberg came to take the senior pictures. And so, on October 10, all of the seniors wore their Sunday best, and their prettiest smiles. That is, most of the seniors wore their Sunday best. Some of the boys wore white shirts, ties, dress-coats, and dungerees. It's a good thing that just the top of them got in the picture. Then, on December 20, when the pictures finally came back, exclamations of joy and sighs of disappointment could be heard all around.

Lots happened between the time the pictures were taken and the time they came. After many false warnings the senior rings arrived.

Seniors were well represented in the "L" Club, G.A.A. and various other school organizations.

In keeping with tradition, the class of "47" participated in the Little Five Hop. Seniors from Lowell, Crown Point, Dyer, Hobart, and Merrillville hold a dance each year at Crown Point for the purpose of meeting students from other schools.

The year was brought to a close with the senior play and the prom, given by the juniors in honor of the seniors. Lastly came Baccalaureate and Commencement with all the pomp that goes with graduation.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HISTORY

The sophomores entered school this year without the fear of agitation from the seniors. The class chose Darrell Cavinder as our leader, Terry Miller as his assistant, and Jean Childress as recorder and financial bookkeeper. After many discussions and arguments, we chose royal blue and white as our class colors.

Jean Childress and Ronald Gross took first place in the glamour department. For their winning personality and charm, Patty Martin and Jerry Little were selected most popular, JoAnn Brownell and Dick Norris for their athletic ability and Ann Spannon and Darrell Cavinder, having an over-dose of so-called intelligence, were selected most likely to succeed in the Lowellian contest.

Out of 112 students who started here in their freshman year, only 99 have remained. During the course of the year, several students have enrolled. Don Spoernor came from Hammond Edison, Laura May Hopper formerly of Kentland High, and Tom Marrett from our rival school of Crown Point.

Those who were selected to help obtain money to buy flowers and bring greetings of good cheer to the sick and send sunshine wherever it is needed were Barbara Bowton, Kenneth Childress, Ronald Gross, Emily Miller, Terry Miller, Joan Minninger, and Eloise Theis.

Those girls who have acquired enough points for G.A.A. by going out for the major sports, such as speedball, volley ball, and basketball, are Shirley Doty, Mary Hepp, Lillian Kruger, Joan Minninger, Marylee Quivey, Barbara Bowton, JoAnn Brownell, Jean Childress, June Corten, Marilyn Cox, Jannie Randolph, Delores Schwitzer, Nada Taylor, Lora Widdel, and Sophie Yacuk.

This year the sophomores are proud to add the names of Raymond Conner, Darrell Cavinder, and Wayne Walters to the L Club. Dick Norris acquired his major letter in basketball last year which made him eligible to join the Club. These boys have majored in some one sport in order to gain their major letter.

The main social event of the year was a party held in the school auditorium for the sophomores and their guests, on the 21st of February. The entertainment committee supplied the evening's fun and refreshments were served later on in the evening.

THE SUNNY SIDE OF SCHOOL

*The ancient sundial takes no heed of cloud and showers
On its broad face you only read the golden hours.
And so to look again at these few scraps and rhymes
Bring only sunlit memories of happy times.*

*The sundial's shadow stretches long;
The golden hours are flying.
Yet close the happy moments throng,
Each one too full for sighing.
And as, at sunset, all the sky
Glow with a brighter glory,
So radiant hopes and courage high
Will end our school days strong.*

SENIOR PROPHECY

Winning first prize in the "Charles Buche's, Hold'em In Girdle Contest," for my essay, "The World is Getting in an Awful Shape," or "The Hump in India Needs Support," my award was a trip around the world, with a suitable chaperone, of course. The first lap of our journey was in a P-80, the new passenger jet plane. Joan Schufz was our pilot, and she made sure that our G-suits and crash helmets were securely fastened before we began to ascend vertically two miles in fourteen seconds. Reaching 30 000 feet, we remained there until our landing in London.

Even though we had breakfast before leaving, in one of New York's cafe society hangouts, the "Richard Frahm's Watch Your Coat and Hat, We Can't Because We're Watching Our Own, Restaurant," we felt the need of some food, (food, that is). Hailing a hack, we decided to ask the driver where the best place to eat was located. Leaning over, we discovered it was Caryl Bahr, who had bought two dozen Crown Kars and had started the Independent Kabs of the Kontinent. We remembered that she was very interested in cabs back in the States. Caryl said that for all around entertainment and also epicurean delight, go to the Buffalo Head's Inn, where the hostess was Jean Leap.

Arriving at the Inn, we were amazed to see so many college boys (Oxford, no less), in front of the Inn, but then remembering how popular Jean was in high school we thought no more of it. We managed to crowd through the door and finally saw Jean giving directions to her head-waiter, John Love. (Caryl told us that they are in business together and plan to be married soon.) Jean's trouble right now was that her bartender, Kate Brownell, was drinking up all the profits. After gossiping awhile we told them of our stomach trouble; a very common malady known as hunger. So in no time at all we sank our teeth into a luscious "blue plate special." We asked if they had any entertainment. "Yes," they said, "we do--Darwin Stephan is our local 'Swoonatra' and these English girls really go for him." (His glamorous wife, Barbara Cleaver, pounds the ivories as his accompanist. (Naturally we understood Darwin's popularity, for soon we saw the girls being carried out. I guess it was too much for them to hear him sing. We hated to part from our old friends, but we didn't have much time. Telling them, "Pip pip," "Cheerio," and all that sort of rot we left England.

Paris was all we had hoped for, with its sidewalk cafes, fishermen at the Seine, (among those notables fishing were Dick Whiting and Nancy Miller) gay night life, and charming women, (women, that is). One particularly notorious place was the "Vivela Tunnell," but remembering that we had our good names to think of we decided not to spend our time in any such place. Instead we entered an artistic circle where Neil Jackson and wife, Mary Bryant, were entertaining the local Bohemian set. However, the party grew rather rough, so we left before the gendarmes arrived. Paris was interesting, especially the "Tunnel of Love" which Dick Resler was running. He always did want to be a sailor and the water in the tunnel appealed to him. (Says Dick, "And that ain't all!")

We made our way from Paris to Berlin. A new organization was being formed there by Betty Griggs and Pearl Hamilton, known as the S.O.S. troops. They were the chore girls of the city. They did everything from baby-sitting to finding lost husbands. On our tour through the city we ran into Marilyn Frese, a professor of calculus at the University of Berlin, coming from a medical exhibit where her friend, Eleanor Poppe, was demonstrating her recent "cold cure." However her lecture was cancelled, as Eleanor had developed a bad case of the flu.

As we flew over the Alps, we saw the Matterhorn, and immediately we wanted to land. Approaching the foot of the mountain, we saw a group of people clad in heavy clothing. They were Dee Hoolley and spouse, Dean Henry, who were talking to guides, Edward Dewes and Lucian Schreiber. Dee and Dean had always loved the mountains, so they thought they would like to spend their honeymoon on top of the Matterhorn. Ed and Lucian were trying to tell them it was impossible, but they replied, "Tut, tut, we are from Lowell and hardy folk!" We didn't wait to see the outcome as it was too cold for us.

Oh - Vienna, the "Blue Danube," and other Strauss waltzes, et cetera et cetera. The Viennese "Lily Pons" was Maude Dierks. At her latest concert she sang "I See Your Face Before Me," or "I Woke Up Screaming," composed by her husband, Sheldon Miller. According to their press agent Sheldon dedicates all of his works to his wife.

In Rome we met another of our colleagues, Lewis Starr, who was trying to start a union for street cleaners. John Black was quite popular in Rome, as he owned half of the vineyards in Italy. However, he was having trouble with his manager, Clyde Wietbrock. Clyde was a Prohibitionist and thought that "grape juice should remain grape juice."

Flying southward, we reached North Africa. Coming in over the sea, we saw a group of small boats drifting aimlessly about. Our curiosity got the best of us, so we took a launch out to see them. The captain of the fleet was Ray Beckman, and his first mate Edith Tappan, had lost the ship's compass, (it was rumored that it happened in a gin rummy game) and they didn't know what to do. However, the second mate (brilliant chap) finally said that the only way to get their bearings, was to wait until dark, locate the North star and proceed likewise. Wondering who this master-mind was, we inquired. "Shirl Snyder," they replied.

Through a native chief (Bob Kust), we discovered that "football" had been introduced to the natives of Belgian Congo. We learned that it was "Rough-house Blanchard," the famous West Point player who couldn't make up his mind whether to quit pro-football, or to continue with his army training. So he went to the Congo.

Our plane stalled over Baghdad, so we had an unexpected visit with Sultan Pat Rhein and his Beauties of Baghdad (harem, to you). The attraction was a demure, blushing young "bottle blonde" named Bonnie Spry. All the other Sultans wanted Bonnie and there were repeated attempts at kidnapping, so Sultan Rhein hired Marion Hilt to guard her.

The sign said "no minors" on the door, but we assured them that we didn't even know John L. Lewis, so they let us in. This was in Calcutta and inside this native restaurant was Bob Phillips, "The Jose Iturbi of Upper Basin Street," accompanying his platonic friend, Marcella Futhy. Marcella is a professional Dr. Painless by day, and night she is "Torchy," the girl with a voice like a blow torch.

We had heard so much about Thassa "The forbidden city in Tibet" that we wanted to see this city of intrigue. We were greeted by a bearded monk, who looked, from his haggard appearance, as if he had been reading and studying for long periods. We were right, as we learned later that this was Bud Gerner and he was translating ancient manuscripts. We knew that this secluded life was not bothering Bud, because through those bloodshot eyes of his we saw the candle of learning (?) beaming. Bud was in a hurry to get to his work, so he brought Maryanna Lundskog to guide us through the monastery. Bud told us afterwards that Maryanna might be suspended because she subscribed to "True, The Men's Magazine" (edited by Barbara Bailey), and that, to Bud, was unforgivable. Especially since the Editor of that magazine said that Bud's beard was really an old muskrat skin.

Leaving our good friends in Tibet, we journeyed to British Singapore. There we found the new world strangely fashioned about the old, with native rickshaws slowly plodding and Kaiser-fraisers whizzing past them. While dining in a Chinese restaurant, two couples came in who looked somewhat familiar. Going over to their table (aggressive, aren't we?) we saw they were Louise Bales and Mary Ann Claussen, foreign correspondents for the Lowell Tribune, escorted by Jerry Childress and Punk Corning, who were on terminal leave from the Chinese Navy. They said that life in China was fascinating. (and more fun)

We decided to vary our journey by going through the wilds of Borneo. On we walked through dense underbrush, we feared every sound, hoping that the fierce natives would not boil us alive (as Charlotte Harbrecht, the traveler's guide, said). At last we reached a clearing and natives dashed from their huts, arranged in a circle, to the jungle. But there we saw two white people, Phyllis Ready and Jim Hall, a married couple, and Phyl said that they had to move out there so Jim could support them. Just then fifteen little boys and girls ran out of a hut crying, "Daddy!" "Mama!" According to the "Halls," Nancy Reed also lived in the village. She was their deaconess and had evidently, done wonders for the natives. "Before, they were wild and primitive--and now, they're still wild and primitive." The Halls said that Nancy had gone to town to get supplies and had taken her guide, Duke Kuiper. However, it only takes a day to get to town, and they've been gone two weeks. (The natives think they've eloped.)

We stayed that night at the camp. The next morning Nancy came back with her husband only it wasn't Duke--it was John Love, (who had run away from Jean Leep.) Duke had met Phyllis Kelsey in town and she persuaded Duke to marry her and since Nancy always did like John--(Confusing isn't it?)

Argentina was our next stop. The thrill of seeing South America, with its dancing girls, samba and mint juleps filled all of us with enthusiasm. The customs inspector was Jessie Lacy. Our luggage was all right but a mysterious looking man whom we knew to be Don Love, didn't pass the inspection. He was trying to smuggle watches from Switzerland into South America. Wondering about Argentina's present political situation we went to the capital, only to find that certain forces were trying to overthrow the "Little Regime." Marjorie Little was now in power; she had overthrown Peron. Now, Norman Novak wanted power, and, backed by his sturdy follower, Dale Meyer, they were plotting the revolution. We thought we had better leave in a hurry, as with all of these uprisings, they were closing all ports of entry (ports of exit, too).

Just in the nick of time we ran across some underground leaders, who managed to get us out of the country into a plane that took us to Rio. These daring leaders were Virginia Schreiber and Valerie Ploetz. Val is the author of that famous best-seller "The Plots of Ploetz," a book of inside dope on inside dope.

As soon as we landed at the airport in Rio, we heard voices yelling police sirens, (the riot squad), and the city ambulance. This yelling good so we dashed over to the crowd to see Lorraine Vawter perched up on a box. She was letting out some top military secrets. The President of Brazil, (Bert Duncan) and his secretary, Marjorie Potter, had been fixing the All Star Brazilian flea-races, and the country was going bankrupt because of their losses. The last we saw of her was when a policewoman, Keturah Sayers, took her away. Lorraine kept screaming "I said it and I'm glad," while Keturah optimistically wondered whether the officials would let her off easy, by giving her the gas chamber.

Our next town would be Hollywood, California. While flying over Devil's Island, one of the passengers in the plane, Joan Markstrom, a world renowned globe trotter, back from the jungles of Brazil, said that Ethel Roy was the last prisoner in the French prison. Yes, Ethel had done a terrible thing. She had stolen an X-ray.

Reaching California, we wondered, "Where was the California sunshine?" It seems that between the bright sunshine and land there were small particles of matter known as S-M-O-G. The local weather women were swamped by calls from people who had picnics ruined. Among these were Mary Mueller who had predicted "fair and warmer," and Carroll Head who had predicted "cloudy and cooler," and lost her job. The highway posters were filled with the announcement of the new picture "Mary Hardesty's Lovers," written by Mary Hardesty, produced by Mary Hardesty and starring Mary Hardesty.

Chicago was our last stop before home. Walking down Maxwell Street we saw Shirley Cool on a corner (funny, she never liked Chicago) the true life example of Slippery Snyder's Super Sudsie Soap Shampoo, "the only shampoo that washes and curls at the same time." On the other side of the street stood two unfortunates. One was Donna Mayfield, known in intimate circles as the dairy-maid, selling non-crush cherries, and Gladys Stasaitis, known to her intimates as the parfait-queen, advertising Mother Monahan's Pie Crust--the crust that holds up.

While watching these various people advertising their wares, we saw a truck madly careen down the street and crash into a car. The writing on the truck read "Enter Tiny Tot Laundry." Dashing over to the wreck we saw that it was Dick, he was badly hurt and in need of a doctor. We rushed to a telephone, dialed, and said, "Doctor, I think there's a dead man down here!" "Lady," he replied, "you don't need me, what you need is an undertaker." Remembering that Jim Weaver was the owner of a fine parlor, I called him and when he came he said there was no hope for Dick and to call Joe Villers, the caretaker. Faintly we heard Dick say, "I am not dead." Jim was badly hurt as this was a blow to his diagnosis. "Don't dispute my word," yelled Jim, "When I say a man is dead, he's dead." Joe arrived, asking where the body was. He was rather disappointed to see his client walking. But then you have to take the bitter with the sweet.

SENIOR WILL

To Mr. Brannock, we will the memory of our well-behaved class. May he always cherish it.

To Miss Baughman we will a new ball of string for her geometry classes. Let's hope she keeps track of it.

To Miss Cook we give a new bowling ball. Hope it helps her score.

To Mr. Cundiff we give a new bus, so he can take his Ag. boys where-ever and whenever he wants.

To Miss Blake we will some new towels and two new towel washers. Her old ones are about worn out.

To Mr. Dubois we give a different World History book so he can memorize it also.

To Mr. Ham we will a new time clock. One that plays "Cow Cow Boogie".

To Mrs. Hetherington we will a nice quiet home room. May she appreciate it always.

To Mr. Hull we will a laboratory full of modern equipment and an efficient science club.

To Mr. Jones we give a scholarship for Robert Clark to a noted music college. We wish him lots of luck.

To Mr. Milakovic we will new football uniforms for next year. The old ones are about shot.

To Miss Nolan we will a '47 Studebaker so that she won't worry about how she's going to get to Chicago every Friday night.

To Mrs. Sisson we will a robot maid so she won't have to worry about her house and family while teaching school.

To Miss Thompson we will a year's supply of aspirin, so it will relieve all of her headaches around play-practise time.

To Miss Tyler we will a Dick Tracy Detective Kit to aid her in catching the "gremlins" who run off with her kitchen utensils.

To Miss Wilcox we will a small adding machine for her room. She gets so tired of sending after the one in the office.

To Miss Voltmer we give a Ouiji board to answer all the questions she is asked.

To Mrs. Martin we will a box of "Chore Girls" to help with her work.

To Mr. Ruley we will an assistant to help him in his daily tasks.

I, Caryl Bahr, will to Vernal Collins my ability to eat in fourth period band and not get caught--As yet!

We, Caryl Bahr and Ethel Roy, being of quick mind and strong body, do hereby bequeath to Shirley Ines and Carolyn Hayhurst our ability to exchange clothes and still remain friends.

I, Barb Bailey, of questionable mind, and poor judgment, hereby will and bequeath (in return) to Paul Williams, all the dead flies he has so thoughtfully supplied me with these past years. It's his turn to be relieved of the meat shortage.

I, Louise Bales, will to Margery Saum the top part of my locker my books won't always be dropping out on her head.

I, Kay Beckman, do hereby will to my brother, John, my ability to stay out of fights.

I, John Black, will to Kilroy a rubber stamp inscribed with "Kilroy was Here" so he can save time writing his name wherever he goes.

I, Charles Blanchard, will my ability to play first string tackle to Bill Smith. He needs it.

I, Kate Brownell, will my tall stature and also my ability not to blush, to Polly Hetherington.

I, Mary Bryant, will to Delores Fleming my ability to go with one boy as long as I have. To Barbara Viant, I will my government book, I'm sure she will enjoy it.

I, Charles Buche, will my bashfulness toward girls to LeRoy Liptak; he needs it.

I, Jerry Childress, will my small feet to Ronald Kern and my ability not to miss school to Charles Schmidt.

I, Mary Ann Claussen, will to Patsy Swett my ability to stick to one boy for more than one evening.

I, Barbara Cleaver, do hereby will to Barbara Bowton my position as captain of the Bloomer Girls and to Bernice Blanchard my light hair and blue eyes, so she will look more like her sister.

I, Shirley Cool, will to Virginia Borowski my Chicago interests. I hope she will have as much fun there as I have.

I, Ray Corning, will my ability to escape the clutches of the game wardens and make conversation with state cops to Tuffy Burger.

I, Lee Corter will my football clothes to Tuffy Burger because he seems to lose so many.

I, Edward Dewes, will my ability to win an argument with Mr. Cundiff in agriculture class to a close friend, Don Termunde.

I, Maude Dierks, will to Jack Lind my ability to steal a ping-pong table at noon.

I, Bert Duncan, will my ability to run, to Jim Weaver. May it do him some good.

I, Chick Frahm, will my ability to learn football plays to Moch Harper.

I, Marilyn Frese, do hereby will and bequeath my mathematical ability to Mary Mussman. I do hope she appreciates this.

SENIOR PLAY

"Brother Goose"

by

William Davidson

Directed by Geraldine Thompson

On April 18, the senior class of 1947 presented "Brother Goose," a comedy in three acts. It was with the help of the director, Miss Thompson, and the untiring efforts of the stage crew that this presentation was made possible. Those on the stage crew were: Ethel Roy, John Black, John Love, Jim Hall, Jim Weaver, and Duke Kuiper, Business Manager.

The story is centered wholly around the Adams household, where Jeff a personable young man of twenty-six, has shouldered the responsibility of raising his younger brother and sisters.

The family consists of Carol, a fifteen year old confident, self-possessed young lady, who is at the present time trying to get to Hollywood on "Wheat Puffies;" Wes, a seventeen year old, good looking lad, who is always in a state of intense excitement, usually about some girl, whose present flame is Eve Mason, a very attractive seventeen year old with a southern accent; Hy, a ten year old bombshell, whose one passion is football, and main dislike is Lenore Hudson, a very stunning young lady, who is inclined to be some what affected. Miss Hudson's idea at the present time is to get Jeff to marry her and she lets nothing stand in her way. That is, almost nothing.

House keepers come and go, in the Adams household, with amazing regularity. Helen is the latest in the long line of house keepers, and she too quits, leaving the household in a complete state of upset; that is, until Peggy Winkel comes along. Peggy is a very pretty girl of nineteen who makes it her job to straighten out the Adams home.

Pandemonium reigns through most of the play, and it is helped along by Sarah, a buxom Negress maid from next door; Mrs. Trimmer, a large forceful woman about fifty, who builds wee Blue Inns; and a truck driver whom Hy has succeeded in making very angry by putting "Wheat Puffies" in his gas tank.

As the curtain comes down on the last act, everyone is happy. That is, everyone but Lenore, who has poison ivy.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

When the doors of L.H.S. opened this year everybody recognized the familiar sound of wolf whistles and they knew the juniors were here! Our enrollment this year was 96, several less than in the previous two years.

Our class sponsors were: Mr. DuBois, Miss Cook, and Mrs. Sisson. On September 5, we chose Virginia Borowski as our class president, Shirley Ines as vice-president, and Ruth Vanco as secretary-treasurer.

Dick Longenecker was our student government vice-president. The representatives were: Phillip Snyder, Joann Taylor, and Bob Hoeckelberg. Our senators were: Bob Coloney, Tom Sharkey, Lois Little, and Dick Jackson.

On September 20, we began our activities by giving a dance after the Hobart game. Other dances were given after games on October 4 and October 11.

When yell-leaders were elected, the juniors were well represented. Phyllis Sutton and Barbara Uhter were chosen for the first team, and Jean Nelson for the second team.

In late September, we began a campaign for magazine sales. The week it lasted was a great success and lots of fun.

On November 21, we presented our class play, "A Date with Judy," which also proved to be a big success.

Early in December, we met to choose a class ring, and after much debate, finally picked one. Orders were taken immediately.

In girls sports G.A.A. sweaters were awarded to LaVonne Barker, Betty Duncan, and Carolyn Hayhurst. Letters went to Lois Little, Doris Hoeckelberg, Harriet Hoevet, Pat Gross, Jo Taylor and Barbara Long. Others received awards later in the year.

Those boys who received major letters in football were: Bob Coloney, Bud Duncan, Tom Sharkey, Bob Harper, Wilbur Hegnauer, Dick Longenecker, and Orville Beier. Minor letters went to Leonard Allie, Charles Brumbaugh, Joe Kormendy, Bill Sheets, and Bill Smith.

We welcomed three new members to our class, Jack Lind from Griffith, Dolores O'Connell from Chicago, and Marcelle Berdine from Hammond.

JUNIOR PLAY

A Date With Judy

Directed by Geraldine F. Thompson

Judy, an attractive teen-age miss, is just sixteen. Her club is giving a dance--grand march and everything. The girl who raises the most money for the Community Relief Fund is going to be crowned Queen of the ball, and will get to lead the grand march. Naturally, this inspires Judy and her friend, Barbara Winsocket. Progress is slow, so the two girls enter a raft race, contests hoping to win money to turn in for the drive. They win "Carnation Fertilizer, for the Growing Things of Life" and six dozen boxes of "Mumpley Crumbly Breakfast Food," but no money. After a hectic time, Judy finally wins and is crowned queen.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1.1 million (Office of National Statistics 1999).

There is a growing awareness of the need to address the needs of older people in the community. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for older people, which sets out a vision for the future of older people's services. The strategy is based on the following principles: older people should be able to live independently in their own homes; older people should be able to access the services they need; and older people should be able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.

The strategy also sets out a number of key objectives for the future of older people's services. These include: to improve the quality of life of older people; to reduce the inequalities in health and social care between different groups of older people; to ensure that older people are able to access the services they need; and to ensure that older people are able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.

The strategy is a key document for the development of older people's services in the UK. It sets out a clear vision for the future of older people's services, and provides a framework for the development of policies and practices to achieve this vision.

SENIOR FAREWELL

*When the shadows gather closer
And when dreams begin anew
Memory takes us four years backward
And we again those years review.*

*Can our High School life be over--
Can this year be truly last--
We would vainly catch and hold it
E're it, to, glides swiftly past.*

*We'll soon be parted from our school mates
Comrades of these four years gone;
We'll go one way, they another
And time still will travel on.*

*Another Senior class will follow,
Do the things that we have done,
We'll be gone--perhaps forgotten--
In the years that soon will come.*

*Yet we've gained a wealth in learning
In the four years that have gone;
We've laid a firm foundation
For us to build our lives upon.*

*When we've gone from Lowell High School
We will be dreaming then and
Memory will bring us back here,
And we'll live these years again.*

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

When classes started this year our 125 freshmen students entered L.H.S. very bewildered and green about everything. All those initiations and older kids always jumping on us certainly did not lessen matters any. The big sister--little sister party helped us to get acquainted with a lot of other girls. Gradually we began to breathe a little easier and finally with the help of Miss Wilcox, Miss Baughman, Miss Nolan, and Mr. Milakovic, we have adjusted ourselves to our surroundings.

We chose as our class officers; Dick Sharkey, president; Ruth Sauer, vice-president; and Pat Hudson, secretary-treasurer.

From each home room a member and an alternate for the Sunshine Club were chosen. Members are Don Pattee, Bob Blair, Dora June Stowell, and Betty Davis. Alternates are Diana Poppe, Marjorie Bennett, Mary Schrum and George Hatch.

Those who entered Student Government were: Marjorie Davis, Jim Little, Dick Sharkey, and Barbara Childress.

The fairer sex have participated in all G.A.A. events. All the girls are working faithfully on their points, but as yet, no one has made enough to enter the club. However, we are eagerly looking forward to initiations.

Three of our girls, Pat Hudson, Ruth Sauer, and Jeanette Peterson, became majorettes and Charlotte McCarty became a cheerleader for the second team.

Many of our boys are athletically minded and we can boast some fine athletes. None of the boys were eligible for the "L" club.

In the field of music we have many who are very interested. At the beginning of the second semester a Junior Band was organized with sixteen members, the majority of them being freshmen.

Winding up a full year, on January 22, we held our first class party, a bobby-sox dance in the L.H.S. gym. There were many different kinds of dances and several cake-walks.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Our student government, which was started in 1945, is modeled after our national government. The purpose this organization is to give the students an opportunity to make and enforce their own laws.

The first year there was a student court which consisted of students as jurors. The purpose was to try cases of misdemeanors performed by students, however, student court lasted only one year. It was decided that a judge should be chosen every year and if any trials arose, the jurors would be chosen at random.

Every class has four senators, one from each homeroom; and every club has two representatives, a boy and a girl, with the exception of the "L" Club which has two boys and the G.A.A. which has two girls.

The student government tries to create better cooperation between teachers and students.

LATIN CLUB

The seventy-seven members of the Latin Club met with Mrs. Hetherington, their sponsor, early in September to elect their officers for this year. Those chosen to lead the club were: Nancy Reed, president, Jim Hall, second man from the top, and Bonnie Spry, chief scribe.

The first business meeting this year took care of changing the defects in the constitution, the initiations, and ordering pins.

The Club saw a movie this year, "The Last Days of Pompei," which was a silent picture but very entertaining. Every meeting was made more interesting because short programs were planned, featuring such eminent acts as the L.C.B.C. (Latin Club Boys' Quartet), Donna Mayfield's skits, and a play by the first year Latin Class.

The finale to this year of '47 was a party, which put the finishing touches to another season of hard work and enjoyment in the Latin Club.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Gladys Stasaitis.....President
Barbara Uhter.....Vice-President
Barbara Long.....Secretary-Treasurer

Since its organization in 1940 by Miss Amy Perry, the Home Ec Club of Lowell District High School has continually increased in importance as an extra curricular activity.

In order to qualify for membership, a student must have passed every subject taken the previous semester. This year there were about eighty-four members under the leadership of the following officers: Sponsor, Miss Tyler; President, Gladys Stasaitis; Vice-President, Barbara Uhter; Secretary-Treasurer, Barbara Long. Phyllis Ready and JoAnne Taylor represented the club in the House of Representatives.

Each year it has been the policy of the club to work together on a project for the betterment of our community. This year the Home Ec members gladly donated and collected enough clothes to be sent overseas to needy families in foreign countries.

In February, the club planned, prepared, and served a meal at the annual F.F.A. Father and Son banquet.

The Mothers' Tea, which is co-sponsored by the Home Ec club and the G.A.A., annually, was held on May 8. The crowning of the May Queen marked the highlight of an afternoon spent by the mothers in sipping tea, and becoming acquainted with friends of their children.

It is due to the combined efforts and co-operation of the sponsor, officers, and the club members that the club was an outstanding success in this past year of 1947.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club of Lowell High School was organized in 1934 and was at that time sponsored by Mr. Brannock. In 1935 the club became a member of the Indiana State Junior Academy of Science, which is a division of the Indiana Academy of Science.

The Club has as its chief purpose the development of the student body's interest in science. Because of this policy, only students who are taking science courses during the year or who have had two years of science are permitted to join the club. The club this year boasted of a membership of 73.

Meetings were held at various intervals during activity period on Fridays. We started this year off with a party held in the high school gym to initiate new members. Science Club pins were ordered for those who wanted them. During some meetings experiments were performed by the chemistry students for the rest of the club members.

Our sponsor this year was Mr. Hull, and our officers: President, Marcella Futhery; Vice-President, Bonnie Spry; and Secretary, Nancy Reed.

- Older people should be able to access the services and facilities they need to live well.
- Older people should be able to participate in the decisions that affect their lives.
- Older people should be able to live in a safe and secure environment.

The strategy also sets out a number of key objectives, including:

- To improve the health and well-being of older people.
- To improve the social and economic participation of older people.
- To improve the living conditions of older people.
- To improve the safety and security of older people.

The strategy is a key document in the development of policy for older people in the UK. It provides a framework for the development of services and facilities for older people, and for the implementation of measures to improve their lives.

The strategy is based on the following assumptions:

- Older people are a diverse group, with different needs and interests.
- Older people are active and engaged in their communities.
- Older people are able to live independently and actively in the community.
- Older people are able to access the services and facilities they need to live well.

SUNSHINE CLUB

Sunbeam No. 1 this year was Dick Jackson, and runner-up was Lois Little. Secretary-Treasurer was Ethel Roy. Representatives to Student Government were Joan Minninger and Kenny Childress.

The annual sale of Christmas and birthday cards, with the addition of Christmas wrapping paper, was one means of earning money to be spent for the needy and ill. Other money was made by selling refreshments at football and basketball games.

During the middle part of the year the Sunbeams organized a bowling team.

Our sponsor, Mrs. Hetherington deserves a special tribute. She came to Lowell High in '44 and began her sponsorship of the Sunshine Club that year. Every year since then, she has done a wonderful job of helping the students replace gloom and worry with joy and happiness.

G.A.A.

Under the leadership of our capable and efficient president, Barbara Bailey, the 1947 Girls Athletic Association of Lowell High School made plans for an active school year. With the cooperation of our sponsor, Miss Blake, and other officers, the club had one of the most successful years in its history.

One of the main events was the winning of a speedball tournament which included six schools, and which was held at the Purdue Fieldhouse at Lafayette.

The annual Athletic Dance and Mothers' Tea were held as scheduled.

Added to other minor sports was a bowling team which bowled against various teams in the school.

At the end of the second semester the senior girls who were members of G.A.A. took a three day camping trip, along with other schools that belong to state G.A.A.

With the election of next year's officers, the year was brought to a close.

ART CLUB

Our first meeting of the year, was for the purpose of electing officers. Barbara Long was elected president, Leroy Liptak vice president, and Barbara Bailey secretary.

We initiated several new members at a special party. This began our year's activities.

The milk sales helped our treasury enough that we were able to purchase an electric kiln and other pottery making equipment.

As a new activity, we selected a mixed bowling team: Shirj Snyder, Clyde Wietbrock, Dick Uhter, Barbara Long, and June Camus. They had a lot of fun.

We also began work on a puppet theatre with which we hope to produce plays for student entertainment.

F.F.A.

The membership of the Future Farmers of America is composed of all the boys taking the local Vocational Ag Course. Initiations are held each fall for new members and meetings are held each month. The purposes of the club are:

1. To promote vocational education in agriculture.
2. To create more interest in the intelligent choice of farming occupations.
3. To add to the prestige and dignity of farming as an occupation and to strengthen the confidence of the farm boy in himself and his work.
4. To create and nurture a love of rural life.
5. To develop a rural leadership and train in its technique.
6. To promote scholarship and worthy achievements among pupils in vocational agriculture.
7. To encourage recreational and educational activities for pupils in vocational agriculture.

This year the FFA elected Eugene Peters, president; Ed Dewes, vice-president; and Leonard Allie, secretary. Bob Tunnell as treasurer kept track of the club's money. The club's reporter was Phillip Snyder and Dick Frahm served as watch dog. Student Government representatives were Phillip Snyder and Wayne Walters, and Mr. Cundiff was sponsor.

The FFA had a busy year. The first semester, over one-hundred soil samples were tested, several field trips were made and the club visited the Chicago Fat Barrow Show and the International Livestock Show in December. Other activities included a pest killing contest, magazine sales, fox drive, grain, poultry, dairy and livestock judging teams. The chapter also placed third in the state chapter project contest.

The annual Father and Son Banquet, held in February, was prepared and served by the Home Economics Club.

PRESS CLUB

The officers of the Press Club for the year of '46 and '47 were elected during the last semester of '46. The president who took office at the beginning of this year was Shirley Cool, the vice-president was Marcella Futhey, with secretary-treasurer Valerie Ploetz.

Our able president graduated at mid-term and the responsibility was laid on the shoulders of the vice-president, Marcella Futhey.

Initiations were not held until second semester because those wishing to become members had to maintain a B average or be a journalism student.

Two activities were sponsored by the club during the year. A turkey raffle at Thanksgiving brought a profit of about $16.00.

On December 14, the Press Club, with the aid of the Science Club, sponsored a Goldiggers Dance at the Legion Hall with music furnished by George Navarre and his orchestra, and to which the girls brought their dates.

At the end of the year there were about fifty active members.

"L" CLUB

In the year 1934, the "L" Club was organized for the purposes of creating greater spirit and deeper interest in athletics, respect for the athletic program, and good fellowship.

The membership requirements are a letter---the club is only for lettermen.

The club during the year awards trophies for the outstanding athlete and best defensive man in football. In basketball the trophy goes to the man with the best free-throw percentage.

Officers for this school year were president, Ray Beckman, vice-president, Bob Rust, and John Love, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Milakovic is sponsor and has been since he came to Lowell High in 1943.

LOWELLETTTE

The hard working journalism class, vari-typers' class, vari-typing machine, and last but not least, Miss Nolan, journalism teacher, and Mr. Ham as advisers are the principal factors which produce the Lowellette. It is the bi-weekly newspaper of L.H.S. which includes events covering news stories, feature articles, cartoons, sports and the traditional Lil' Devil.

The Lowellette was first issued in October 1934, under the title, "L Weekly," with Edwin VanNada as its first editor. Since then the name has been changed to Lowellette and the circulation has grown larger and larger. This year after a strenuous subscription drive we had at least 30 more subscriptions than the previous year. This is not including the Lowellettes sent free of charge to our many servicemen.

Since the beginning of World War II the Lowellette has suffered immensely due to paper shortage, since there could be only 2 or 4 pages. In the past two years, we have been striving to produce a bigger and better Lowellette. Last year this brought about the results of achieving a first class rating from the National Scholastic Press therefore we have been working harder to improve the Lowellette in all ways. Starting the second semester we were able to publish six pages bi-weekly. We had been unable to do this the first semester because we had to learn the principals of journalism before we could do any great amount of writing and because the vari-type machine had to be repaired several times during the year.

So that the Lowellette may contain more variety, a wider selection of articles and opinions, we have encouraged participation of others outside the journalism class in producing a more interesting Lowellette.

Production of the Lowellette is a simplified rendition of the method used by all large circulation papers. Stories are suggested by the journalism class, plus suggestions from other interested parties, then the stories are assigned by the editor-in-chief and associate editor. Each journalism student finds history posted on the bulletin and cover the story to the best of his ability. He hands in his story on the date prescribed by the editor; then the story is read over to correct misspelled words, gramatical errors, etc. After this process it is sent to Mr. Ham's typing room where he assigns the articles to be typed by our assistants, the varitypists. Without the aid of the varityper we would be at a complete loss.

After these articles are typed they are read over by Mr. Ham and sent back to the journalism class. The editor with the aid of the associate editor plan each page of the paper. There is much work to this. First of all, the lines are counted in each article; then arranged so as to complete the needed number of lines in each column. Each article is arranged according to the importance, the length, the type of article, and date of occurrence, etc. Again each article is re-read to catch any mistakes made in the write-ups. This arranged page is sent to Mr. Ham where the stencil is typed on the varityper and run off on the mimeograph machine. Thus the paper is distributed to all of its many subscribers.

The Lowellette staff this year is as follows: Phyllis Kelsey, Editor-in-Chief; Gladys Stasaitis, Associate Editor; Virginia Schreiber, Phyllis Ready, Caryl Bohr, Feature Editors; Jim Weaver and John Love, Boys' Sports; Bonnie Spry, Girls' Sports; Art Work, Dick Resler and Eleanor Poppe; Duke Kuiper, Business Manager; and Circulation Manager, Ethel Roy.

DISTINGUISHED AND HONORABLE MENTION

The Honor Roll for the school has two divisions, the Distinguished Students and Honorable Mention. In order to be distinguished a student must have an average of at least 3.5 and no grades lower than a B. Honorable Mention required a 3.0 average. Distinguished students are awarded pins for as long as they are distinguished.

Below are the names of the students who have made the Honor Roll on the number of times they have been on it during the past year. (This list is compiled for the first five grading periods only.)

BAND

As in previous years, the band started with rehearsals for the Labor Day parade a week before school started. Immediately after the school year began, the band started rehearsing for the football games. Every game was covered, except the last because of rain.

Some of the events during the year were the trip to Gary to hear the Marine Band and the Sam Campbell program at which the Band gave a fifteen minute program. Throughout the year, groups from the band performed for several of the organizations in town. A tenor saxophone, and a flute were purchased, raising the number of instruments to twenty-three owned by the school.

A new venture was started this year when a junior band was organized. The beginners in this band will have to pass certain requirements before being admitted to the regular band. With the coming of spring, the band settled down to diligent rehearsing, for there were important events ahead. On March 29, the solo and ensemble festival was held; On April 9 the Spring concert was given, followed by the contest on Saturday, April 12. The commencement in May was another engagement at which the band performed. An enjoyable and varied Christmas concert was presented on December 18.

During November the entire music department was in an uproar. The cause of this was Bobby, the newly arrived son of our director, Mr Jones. Bobby turned out to be an immediate hit with the Band and Choral groups, however, for they presented him with several fine gifts. And so a busy and productive year came to an end.

This year three choral groups have been organized under the direction of Mr. Jones. All students including freshmen now have an opportunity to show their talents in the music world. The groups are Boys' Chorus, Freshman Girls' Glee Club, and the Choir, containing both boys and girls.

The choral groups main performances this year were a WGN broadcast, Spring and Christmas Concerts, Commencement, Baccalaureate and various other school activities.

LOWELLIAN

We, the staff of the 1947 Lowellian, sincerely hope that this annual successfully meets the requirements of the student body. Our desire throughout its production has been to produce a superior yearbook. If it meets these qualifications our aim will have been fulfilled.

The first Lowellian to be published by the senior class was in 1933. It has steadily increased to its present size.

The guidance of Miss Nolan and Mr. Ham and the untiring aid of the production staff makes this book possible.

SCHOOL SONG

We're loyal to you, Lowell High,
We're loyal to you, Lowell High,
You're the best in the land
And we know you will stand
And we'll back you to stand Lowell High, Rah! Rah!
So smash that blockade, Lowell High,
Go crashing ahead, Lowell High,
Our team is our fame protector
On, boys, for we expect a victory from you Lowell High!
Che cha-cha ha ha
Che cha-cha ha ha
Lowell High! Lowell High! Lowell High!
Fling out that dear old flag of red and of black
Lead on ye sons and daughters,
Fighting right back
Like men of old, on giants
Pledging alliance, shouting defiance
Aske Bow Wow!
Amid the broad green plains that nourish our land,
For honest labor and for learning we stand,
And unto you we pledge our heart and hand,
Our Alma Mater, Lowell High!

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased by 1.5 million, from 2.5 million in 1980 to 4 million in 1998 (Department of Health 1999). The number of people employed in the health service has increased by 1.2 million, from 2.2 million in 1980 to 3.4 million in 1998.

There is a growing emphasis on the need to improve the quality of care and services provided by the health service. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of the Health Service Act 1990, the Health Service Act 1997, and the Health Service Act 1999. These acts have introduced a number of measures to improve the quality of care and services, including the introduction of the Health Service Act 1990, the Health Service Act 1997, and the Health Service Act 1999.

LOWELL'S TWENTY-FIFTH YEAR OF FOOTBALL

Lowell's first season of football wasn't much like that of last fall, because the first Lowell football team, coached by Lansford, and captained by James Little, won only one out of five games, whereas the '46' team, coached by Mike Milakovic, and captained by Ray Beckman, won eight out of nine games.

The history of football from there on is not to be neglected, for in 25 years we have won 105 games, and tied 12, out of a possible 191 games. The Red Devils have had only one perfect year in this 25 years. That was in 1935, when Carter was the coach, and when we won nine games and had no ties or losses. But Lowell did at one time take a beating at the hands of the Froebel team in 1926, by a score of 100 to 0.

Lowell has however, had only one year of no wins or ties and all losses. This was in 1943, Coach Milakovic's first year at Lowell. That year has been justified though, and with almost a perfect season last fall, and 15 straight games without a defeat, nobody will argue this point. Lowell has reason to look to its football record with pride.

GIRLS' INTRAMURAL SPORTS

To make the noon hours interesting, to make points in order to en G.A.A., and to determine which class had the best teams, the girls indulged in their annual tournaments of speedball, hit pin, volleyball, basketball, and softball.

The juniors were self confident after taking the speedball tourney, with Lorraine Barker as Captain. But the seniors, mending their wounded pride, elected Marilyn Freese captain of their hit pin team and proceeded to take that tourney.

Feeling very happy over the hit pin victory, the seniors again rallied to defeat all aspiring contestants in volleyball. Highlights in the field of volleyball this year featured the senior girls versus those tough, rugged individualists, the faculty. The teachers were under a handicap of only six players and therefore the big game went to the seniors, 20-26.

The boys must have been practicing hit pin on the side because they won over the girls in every class from frsh to senior.

And that completes the world of sports for this school year of '46 and '47.

CHEERLEADERS

Leading the yells that cheered the 1946-47 football and basketball varsity teams to victory were our four competent cheerleaders, Phyllis Ready, Phyllis Sutton, Gladys Stasaitis, and Barbara Uhter.

The first three were re-elected from last year's squad and Barbara became the new member.

Phyllis Ready, the acrobatic cheerleader, has thrilled the spectators at the games with her back flips and walkovers. Barbara and Gladys also do a few stunts.

Phyllis Ready and Gladys Stasaitis, both seniors, have been leading cheers at Lowell High for four years. Phyllis Sutton, junior, has participated as a cheerleader for two years. Barbara is also a junior.

The second team cheerleaders elected for this year were Jean Nelson, junior, and Charlotte McCarty, freshman.

FOOTBALL

With a successful season almost certain because of the return of thirteen lettermen and also the return of Coach "Mike," the Lowell High football team looked forward to a good year.

LOWELL 19 - GRIFFITH 7

Annexing their first victory of the season, the Devils showed promise of their power by defeating a strong Panther team. Sharkey broke the ice about midway in the second quarter, ripping through the line on a brilliant 85-yard touchdown run. Beckman converted. The other touchdowns were made by Beckman and Coloney.

LOWELL 19 - CROWN POINT 0

The Lowell Red Devils tore through the Crown Point defense to beat the Bullocks at Oakland Park, September 13, in Lowell's second conference game of the season.

Ray Beckman made the first touchdown in the first quarter, with Joe Villers and Bob Coloney adding two more touchdowns in the second and third quarters, respectively.

The Red Devils, winning their third consecutive game from Crown Point, showed power by gaining 309 yards in scrimmage to Crown Point's 28.

LOWELL 7 - HOBART 6

Lowell defeated Hobart in their third conference win, having only Merrillville to bar them from being conference champs.

There was no scoring in the first quarter, but in the second Hobart passed for a touchdown and missed the all-important extra point.

The third period was scoreless with each team fighting hard for the goal line.

In the fourth quarter the Devils marched to the Brickies' four yard stripe where they were stopped. Hobart kicked out, and Lowell charged back down the field scoring on an 8-yard Sharkey-to-Kuiper pass. Ray Beckman then added the winning point.

LOWELL 7 - ST. JOE ACADEMY 0

The Lowell Red Devils' trip to Rensselaer to play the St. Joe Puma Cubs proved successful for the Devils by their defeating St. Joe 7-0 in the fourth consecutive win of the season.

The first two quarters proved to be a hard, even-fought battle, with Lowell having the only scoring opportunity when they had the ball on the two yard line. The gun went off ending the first half before the Devils could score.

The lone touchdown started in the fourth quarter by way of a 43 yard pass, Sharkey to Kuiper. Coloney then took the ball and went over from 2 yards out. Beckman kicked the point. Final score was Lowell 7-St. Joe 0.

LOWELL 25 - RENSSELAER 7

Marking up another victory, Lowell rolled over Rensselaer 25 to 7. The Bombers tried to establish a good defense, but the continuous pounding their line took from the Lowell team made them melt to nothing.

Sharkey led the scoring with two touchdowns, Coloney one, and Kuiper one touchdown and one extra point.

LOWELL 45 - MERRILLVILLE 19

Before a large homecoming crowd, the Lowell Devils ran and passed their way to their sixth consecutive victory of the season, by defeating Merrillville 45-19.

After the first quarter, the Lowell second, third and fourth strings took over for the rest of the game.

The scoring was well divided with Villers scoring twice, Sharkey twice, Dodge once, Walters once, and Kuiper scoring one touchdown and converting for three extra points.

LOWELL 13 - CROWN POINT 6

Lowell charged through mud to win their seventh straight game and their second straight victory from the Bulldogs this season.

The Bulldogs put up a hard battle; but with Bud Gerner moking a touchdown in the third quarter, Tom Sharkey making another in the fourth quarter and Bob Coloney converting for a point they were not able to cope with Red Devil superior power.

The hard driving Devils ran up 145 yards in scrimmage to Crown Point's 67.

LOWELL 51 - CRETE 0

In the only afternoon game of the season, the Devils defeated the Crete Indians 51-0, plus keeping control of the ball most of the time.

Lowell's first touchdown came when Bob Coloney charged 57 yards of tackle in Lowell's second play of the game. The second was by Tom Sharkey from the six-yard line. In the second quarter, Sharkey scored again, this time around end from about 10 yards. Next score came when Villers scored from 10 yards out.

The third quarter went scoreless, but in the fourth the Devils really broke loose. On the first play Ray Beckmon went off tackle for a touchdown from the 12. Tom Sharkey intercepted a pass on the 35 and scored, and Kuiper scored on another interception from the 22, with only 13 seconds left. Squeak Hegnauer fired a pass to Villers for an additional 6 points. Three extra points, two by Kuiper and one by Villers, plus the eight touchdowns made up the 51 points.

LOWELL 6 - NOLL 12

Noll's pony backs and superb blocking proved to be the decisive factor in Lowell's only loss of the season.

The best season Lowell has had since 1935 was the result of the 1946 gridiron campaign for Lowell High School's gridders. Eight wins and one loss was the final tally for this year. The team conquered their first eight opponents, but fell to defeat to a large school from the north end of the country, Hammond Noll Central.

BASKETBALL

Lowell 35 - Demotte 28

In the first game of the season, Lowell defeated Demotte by a score of 35-28.

The Indians were ahead at the half with a six point lead, but could not withstand the barrage of points made by the Devils in the second half.

Jack Lind was high scorer for Lowell with 10 points, and Dick Norris close behind with 9.

Edison 42 - Lowell 30

Lowell fell to a defeat for the first time of the season at the hands of the Blazers from Gary Edison by a 12 point margin.

Shirl Snyder and Jim Weaver led Lowell's scoring with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

Hobart 36 - Lowell 26

The fighting Lowell Red Devils fell to defeat under a powerful Brickie team by a score of 36-26.

Lowell was ahead at the half, 16-11, but the Brickies gained the lead in the third quarter and held it throughout the game.

"Duke" Kuiper led Lowell's scoring with 9 points.

Lowell 39 - Hebron 24

Lowell's first game played on the opponent's hard wood this season proved victorious when our Devils beat the Hebron Quintet by a score of 39-24.

Joe Villers was high point man for Lowell with 12 points.

Kouts 57 - Lowell 43

Lowell fell to defeat once again, at the hands of a strong Kouts five with a score of 57-43.

Lowell trailed at the half, 36-23, but pulled up within four points of the Indians in the third quarter. However, the Devils were not able to continue their fast pace.

Norris and Kuiper led the scoring with 13 points each, and Lind was close behind with 11.

Lowell 31 - Crown Point 26

Lowell jinxed Crown Point on Friday the 13th in a hard fought battle between the two rival teams, 31-26.

Lowell took the lead at the half and maintained it throughout the remainder of the game.

"Duke" Kuiper and Darrell Cavinder led Lowell in scoring, with 7 points each.

John Black's outstanding rebound work was one of the determining factors in the Bulldogs' defeat.

Morocco 45 - Lowell 23

Lowell lost a very hard game to Morocco on the Indians' home floor. The Morocco quintet had a strong lead throughout the game.

Lowell Loses First Game at Holiday Tourney

Lowell lost its first game of the tourney to Dyer by a close score of 40-38. The Red Devils tried hard but couldn't check the Indians.

Dick Norris was awarded the trophy for the best player on the Red Devil Team. Last year miniature basketballs were presented, but this year it was changed to trophies.

Lowell 44 - Wheeler 24

Lowell marked up an easy victory by defeating Wheeler, 44-24. The Lowell five took the lead in the first quarter and maintained it throughout the game. Norris again led the scoring with 15 points.

Lowell 52 - East Gary 37

The Red Devils marched to another victory by defeating East Gary 52-37.

Lowell led 28-22 at the half, and continued their point producing pace in the last half.

Norris, Black, and Kuiper led Lowell's scoring with 12 points apiece.

Griffith 40 - Lowell 38

Lowell suffered defeat by only two points in a last minute thriller to Griffith.

Griffith led at the half, 20-6, but a last half rally by the Devils almost proved fatal to the Panthers.

Weaver led Lowell's scoring with 12 points.

Merrillville 37 - Lowell 34

Unable to cope with the powerful Pirate five, the Devils fell to their seventh defeat of the season.

Lowell held a one point lead at the half, but Merrillville sank shot after shot in the third quarter to take the lead.

Norris again led the Devil offense with 14 points.

Lowell 50 - Dyer 48

In a double over time, Lowell scalped the Indians by way of two free throws swished through the net by Jim Weaver.

Weaver also led Lowell's scoring with 16 points.

Griffith 51 - Lowell 33

Lowell trailed all the way and was easily defeated by the Panthers, 57-33.

Black and Norris were the only major point producers of the Devil offense by scoring 14 and 11 points, respectively.

Wirt 58 - Lowell 56

In another last minute thriller, Lowell ended up on the short end of the score, but by only 2 points, 58-56.

"Lanky Archie" Black chalked up 15 points to lead the Lowell scorers --Weaver was close behind with 14.

Lowell 30 - Crown Point 29

Lowell defeated its ace rival for the second time this season, and the fourth consecutive time over a period of two years.

Lowell led throughout the entire game, and held a one point margin when the gun went off.

Norris led all scorers with 12 points.

Merrillville 40 - Lowell 39

Once again Lowell dropped a last minute thriller. This time it was at the hands of the Merrillville Pirates, 40-39.

Merrillville was leading at the half, 24-18, and managed to hold the lead until the final gun.

Norris led Lowell in scoring with 10 points.

Lowell 38 - Portage 29

Lowell played its best game of the season, both offensively and defensively, to defeat the Portage Indians, 38-29.

The Devils took the lead in the first quarter and never relinquished it.

Norris and Kuiper led Lowell in scoring with 10 and 7 points, respectively.

Hammond High 48 - Lowell 18

Playing an outclassed and outcoached team, the Devils fell to defeat. The boys tried hard throughout the entire game, but were unable to cope with the powerful wildcats from Hammond.

Captain John "Archie" Black, Jim Weaver, Shirl Snyder, "Duke" Kuiper and Dick Uhter are the boys who will be lost through graduation from this year's squad.

the 1990s, the number of people with a diagnosis of schizophrenia has increased in the United Kingdom (Meltzer 1997). The prevalence of schizophrenia in the United Kingdom is estimated to be 1.2% (Meltzer 1997).

There is a growing awareness of the need to improve the lives of people with mental health problems. The United Kingdom has a number of government departments and agencies that are responsible for the care of people with mental health problems. The Department of Health is responsible for the overall policy and strategy for mental health care. The Department of Social Security is responsible for the provision of social security benefits to people with mental health problems. The Department of the Environment is responsible for the provision of housing and other services to people with mental health problems.

The National Health Service (NHS) is responsible for the provision of mental health services. The NHS is a public body that is funded by the government. The NHS is responsible for the provision of a wide range of mental health services, including community mental health teams, inpatient services, and out-patient services. The NHS is also responsible for the provision of mental health services to people with learning disabilities.

The Mental Health Act 1983 is the primary legislation governing the care of people with mental health problems in the United Kingdom. The Act sets out the principles and objectives of mental health care. The Act also sets out the powers of the courts and the powers of the Secretary of State. The Act is a complex piece of legislation and it is important to understand its provisions in order to ensure that people with mental health problems are treated fairly and effectively.

The Mental Health Act 1983 has been amended a number of times since it was first passed. The most recent amendments were made in 2003. The amendments were made in order to improve the care of people with mental health problems and to ensure that the Act is up to date. The amendments are a significant part of the Act and it is important to understand them in order to ensure that people with mental health problems are treated fairly and effectively.

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of understanding the underlying mechanisms of the observed phenomena. It is argued that a comprehensive understanding of the system requires a detailed analysis of the various factors that influence its behavior. This involves identifying the key variables and their interactions, as well as developing a theoretical framework that can explain the observed patterns.

In the second part, the authors present a series of experiments designed to test the proposed model. These experiments involve manipulating the input variables and observing the resulting output, which is then compared against the predictions of the model. The results show that the model accurately captures the essential features of the system, providing a solid foundation for further research.

The third part of the paper focuses on the practical applications of the findings. It discusses how the insights gained from the theoretical analysis and experimental work can be used to design more effective systems or to optimize existing ones. This section also addresses some of the limitations of the current study and suggests directions for future research.

Finally, the paper concludes by summarizing the main findings and emphasizing the significance of the work. It is hoped that the results presented here will contribute to a deeper understanding of the system and inspire further exploration in this field.
